The Columbian.

The demand upon our columns for advertising space certainly shows that business men recognize the value of "The Columbian" as an advertising medium.

VOL 29 BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1894. NO 37

THE UNITED STATES COURTS.

A special term of the District Court of the United States, was held at Williamsport, commencing September 3rd. The Judges of this court are Hon. Geo. Shiras Jr., Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court; Hon. M. W. Acheson, Judge of the United States Circuit Court, and Hon. Joseph Buffington, Judge of the United States District Court. The other officers of the court are Harry Alvin Hall, District Attorney; John W. Walker, Marshal; William T. Lindsey, Clerk of District Court; Max L. Mitchell, Clerk of the Circuit Court. Judge Buffington is a college friend of the writer, and his wife is a sister of Mrs. Dr. James B. Neal. He has visited in Bloomsburg, and has many friends here. Though a young man, still under forty, and though but a few years upon the bench, having been appointed by President Harrison, he has already made a high reputation as an able and impartial jurist.

It was the luck of the editor of this paper to be drawn as a juror in this court, and in obedience to the notice he started for Williamsport on the 7.35 train on the P. & R. road, on the morning of September 3rd, in company with I. W. Hartman, who was also summoned as a juror. Owing to pressing business at home Mr. Hartman was excused the same day, and missed the pleasure of sitting in judgment on other people's affairs.

The jurors were a very pleasant set of gentlemen, and among them were James Archbald, of Scranton, chief engineer of the D. L. & W. Railroad; John Ewing, of Pittsburg; Geo. R. Graham, publisher, of New Castle, Lawrence county; Myron Kasson, ex-prothonotary of Lackawanna county; Robert D. King, deputy sheriff of Allegheny county; J. G. Lesher, editor, of Selinsgrove; H. C. Prevost, register and recorder, of Wyoming county; John M, Rahm, road master of the Lehigh Valley railroad; C. F. Shaffer, deputy prothonotary of Union county, and others.

The U. S. Courts are held in the new government building. Two courts were in session all the week, Judge Buffington trying criminal cases in the District court, and Judge Acheson presiding in the circuit court in the trial of civil cases. In the District court are tried all cases which are offenses against the laws of the United States, as defined by the acts of Congress. This includes pension frauds, counterfeiting, selling liquor without a government license, sending obscene matter through the mails, national bank and internal revenue cases, robbing the mails, &c. In the circuit court civil suits are tried wherein residents of other states bring action against residents of this State. The course of procedure is very similar to the practice in our county court.

Among the most interesting cases tried were those of De La Green and John M. Bowman, for defrauding the Muncy bank. Both were convicted.

Williamsport is a beautiful city, and one would scarcely believe that less than three months ago almost the entire business portion of the place was under seven feet of water. In many places the marks of the water on the walls of the houses show the point reached by the flood.

Trolley cars traverse every part of the city, and there are several charming rides that may be taken on them. One morning with two others I rode over the entire system, a distance of about twelve miles, at a cost of ten cents a piece. There are a number of good hotels in Williamsport, but none better than the little Central Hotel, near the Government building, kept by Mr. Porter. Everything is as clean as a pin, with good food and excellent beds.

We made a hurried visit to the building of Grit in company with Elmer E. Person, city editor of that paper, and a graduate of the COLUMBIAN office. The magnitude of this plant surprised us. A large number of hands are employed, and fourteen editions are printed weekly, on a fast press from stereotyped plates. The Lamade brothers are at the head of this prosperous establishment.

But the time was so much occupied in court that we had but little opportunity to get about the city. With the exception of a few hours on Thursday, when I came home for a few hours, I was on a jury the entire week, and it was only on account of a legal engagement on Monday that I succeeded in escaping service for a couple of days this week. Though it was somewhat tedious, the experience of sitting in a jury box was valuable. It would be well if every lawyer could serve as a juror at least once, for then they would better understand the difficulty that laymen often encounter in trying to guess at what is right in cases that are submitted to them.

CENTRALIA WEDDING.

The Ashland Advocate of last week contains the following:

At nine o'clock September 6, the marriage words were spoken which united for life Miss Margaret E. Moran to A. J. McNealis of Phila. The ceremony took place in St, Ignatius Catholic church. Rev's Power and Kinney officiating, before a very large assemblage of invited guests, which included people from Mass., Philadelphia, New York, Pottsville, Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Girardville, Bloomsburg, Shamokin, Hazleton, Wilkes Barre and Ashland.

The bride looked beautiful in a white figured silk, trimmed in Duchess lace. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Katie Kealey, as the maid of honor, and the Misses Lizzie Moran, sister of the bride, and Margaret Joyce, of Philadelphia, bridesmaid, also made a very striking appearance, in their white silks. They carried bouquets of pink roses. The groomsmen were Mr. John J. Rattigan, of Pottsville, and Michael Gerrity, of Philadelphia, and, like the groom, they wore morning dress.

A reception followed the ceremony, which took place at the bride's home and lasted until 12 o'clock, when a sumptuous repast was spread which included all the delicacies of the season. A reception was tendered them in the afternoon from 1 until 2 o'clock, when they took the 2:30 train for Niagara Falls, and Canada, where they will spend two weeks. The bride's traveling costume was navy blue broadcloth. The gifts they received were something beautiful and useful, including silverware, cut glass, china, linens, and rare bric-a-brac. They will make their home at Philadelphia, where the good wishes of their many warm friends will always be with them.

The Rain Too Late!

While our recent generous downpour of rains are pronounced "too late" for certain purposes, at least by many who have never been heard to thank God for the bounties of nature, they were certainly in good time and high time, and for more important purposes than those deplored by the ungrateful. They were not too late for something to drink for man and beast; not too late for growing corn and buckwheat; not too late for fall pasturage for animals that would otherwise have had to be fed from the farmer's store for winter use; not too late to set dormant machinery in motion all over the United States, whether running by steam or water power; not too late to quench fires the like of which our country has never before suffered—at least not within the memory of the writer; not too late to quench the fires in burning mines in the bowels of the earth, which rendered it impossible for man to utilize them; not too late to save at least 50 per cent. of the fruit of every orchard from Maine to California; and yet, alas, we must admit, too late to exact a prayer of gratefulness from far too many who will partake of the bounties of nature a whole life time without either saying grace over meals or otherwise audibly expressing a word of thanks to the God of nature. "Too late," alas, yes "too late," we fear will be the bitter words that fall upon the ears of the ungrateful during the promised rain of fire unquenchable hereafter.

The Woolen Mill.

On the corner of Fifth and West streets, in a three-story brick building, fully equipped with all requisite machinery, and under the efficient management and control of Messrs. E. C. Caswell and J. M. Staver, can be found the Bloomsburg Woolen Mill. It is now in full operation and running on full time, with a full set of hands. So much for free wool. Whether the product be native or foreign clipped, this recently dormant industry throughout the United States is now wide awake in Bloomsburg, at least. It takes from 50 to 75 hands to fill the necessary complement in and about the mill.

Red, Ripe Strawberries in September.

Mr. Joseph Garrison, of Bloomsburg, brought to this office on Tuesday the 11th instant, a curiosity in the fruit line, they being second growth strawberries, of the Crescent Seedling and Sharpless varieties, that were full grown and of fine flavor. He could only account for this freak of nature by observing that their first and seasonable attempt at fruitage had been frustrated by the frost and that this unseasonable fruitage is the product of the second effort.

The Bloomsburg Fair.

A properly conducted and well arranged agricultural fair may be made worth considerably more than the entrance fee to any tiller of the soil and also to their wives and daughters. The farmer being necessarily somewhat isolated must gather any additional knowledge he gets either from what he can see near about home or what he can there gather from the study of books and newspapers. Farmers, like the rest of mankind, gather more practical knowledge from observation and personal experience than from either the finely spun theories of stump speakers or a close study of Agricultural Reports.

The information that a farmer can gain at a well-conducted agricultural fair (outside of what we admit he may lose at the races, spinning jennies, &c.,) may easily be turned to his practical advantage. Here he can make comparisons of all farm products, not only as to quality, but also as to yield. Here, as nowhere else, he can study and compare the different breeds of farm animals that are brought together for his edification, comparison and selection. Here, as nowhere else, he can note the real and imaginary improvements in farm implements, which are so essential at times when the harvest is plenty and laborers few. Here, too, they can meet in happy social converse and exchange opinions worth money to each other—opinions based upon actual experience with farm implements and farm products. Here, too, may yet be found the sweet cider and ginger-bread of olden times, along with the buxom wives and vigorous daughters peculiarly the product of pure air and water of the country. Here, too, high and low tariff, and all important affairs of church and state may be talked over to the great advantage of the farmer.

The Account Was Settled.

A recent issue of the Daily contained an insinuation that W. H. Snyder had not yet settled all his accounts with the state for fees received while he was Prothonotary. The following letter speaks for itself:

WM. H. SNYDER,
Attorney at Law,
Bloomsburg, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your letter of 3rd inst. I would say that the records of this Department show that your account with the Commonwealth as Prothonotary of Columbia Co., for the years 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888, 1889 and 1890 is closed and balanced. The last payment closing the account was made January 26, 1891.

The balance of $27.50 made up of excess of "Fees of office" for the year 1888, was reduced during the year 1889 to $3.93, and paid in full during the year 1890.

Yours Truly,
P. D. BUCKER,
for D. Mc M. GREGG,
Auditor General.

J. M. Gidding & Co's Opening.

The enlarged store room of J. M. Gidding & Co. was formally thrown open to the public on Tuesday evening. The room was handsomely decorated with palms and flowers, and C. P. Elwell's orchestra of ten pieces discoursed sweet music from 7.30 to 10 o'clock. The store was crowed all the evening, and souvenirs were handed out by Mr. Gidding to all comers. The front window showed an original conception in the way of a gentleman's dressing room as he is about to start on a journey. On the table are his hat, cane and umbrella, while his overcoat, coat and vest are lying carelessly around, and his satchel stands in one corner containing his underwear, gloves, ties, &c. Mr. Gidding received many letters from persons whom he had invited to attend the opening, and also a number of handsome presents from wholesale houses with whom he deals.

GOING TO NORRISTOWN.

On Wednesday of next week Friendship Fire Co. No. 1 will go to Norristown to participate in the firemen's parade on Thursday. They will be accompanied by the Bloomsburg Cornet Band. The annual convention of the Pennsylvania Firemen's Association will be held at Norristown next week.

The Coming Show.

We call the reader's attention to our advertisement on page 8 of Walter L. Main's Show, which will exhibit in Bloomsburg on Monday, September 24th. The Corning N. Y. Daily Journal comments as follows upon it: "The universal verdict was that the show was the best ever given in the city."

BRIEF MENTION

About People You Know.

Miss Gladys Beach, of Philadelphia is the guest of Miss Maude Runyon.

Louis Lowenberg carries his left hand in a sling, a felon being the cause thereof.

Mrs. Eber Brown, of Lightstreet, is again at home after a brief visit to Watsontown.

S. A. Goodhue, of Jamison City, was a visitor in Bloomsburg on Monday.

Editor Tubbs, of Shickshinny, has purchased a bicycle.

Dr. G. Stuart Kirby and wife, of Mauch Chunk, spent Sunday in town with relatives.

J. G. Wells went to New York on Monday to buy goods.

Mr. P. Mourey, of Strawberry Ridge, was seen on our streets on Monday.

Editor Smith, of the Benton "Argus" was a caller on Monday.

Editor Potter, of the Millville "Tablet" was a visitor at the county seat on Tuesday.

Prof. J. G. Cope returned from West Chester on Saturday, having been delayed a week by illness.

Hurley Sands, of Buckhorn, is now a resident of Bloomsburg, having recently engaged as clerk with I. Maier.

The present address of Miss Agnes Vanderslice, is 817 Nicollet Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

C. F. Knapp went to Rochester on Wednesday and will be absent until next week, on insurance and masonic business.

Mrs. S. L. McBride, whose eyes have been under treatment for some time, is now in somewhat of an improved condition.

Mrs. Clark Callender, of Cambra, who has been ill for some time is no better at the present writing.

Mrs. Jonathan Traub, who had been absent for a few days visiting Scranton friends, is again at home.

Messrs. Snyder, Fleckenstine, Irvin and Deighmiller of this town, and Mr. Essick, of Reading, shot sixty shore snipe along the river last week Thursday.

Mr. Blaker, of Greenwood, more familiarly known as "General Blaker," the political, gave THE COLUMBIAN a friendly call on Monday.

B. F. Edgar, ex-Commissioner, was a Bloomsburg visitor on last Saturday. Because of his friendly disposition he is a man of many friends.

Ex-Commissioner Rittenhouse and wife, passed through town on Saturday on their way to Stillwater, where they spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Edgar.

Mrs. Gidding is so much improved in health that she walked up on Tuesday evening to see the decorations in the store, and hear the music a little while.

Mrs. Dreisbach, of Jersey City, who has been visiting friends about Bloomsburg, returned to her home on Wednesday by way of Wapwallopen, where she will first visit a daughter.

Mrs. H. L. Goss and Mrs. P. L. Hartman, of Cambra, started for Colon, Mich., on Monday morning. Mrs. Goss will spend the fall and winter in the west.

Miss Emma Caswell, who recently took an extended visit up the West Branch, returned home on Wednesday accompanied by Mrs, Mira Caswell Bubb.

J. M. Staver, who is connected with the Woolen Mill industry of Bloomsburg, and who was absent from home buying up stock for their mill for several weeks, returned on Tuesday.

Mrs. Daniel Edgar, of Orangeville, returned home on Monday after attending the funeral of Mrs Susanna Stucker, at Stillwater, on Saturday. Mrs. Stucker died of consumption after a lingering illness.

Prof. J. M. Coughlin and family are spending the summer at their homestead at New Columbus. The family is stronger than when it came to the country. The recent arrival of a new boy is where it gets its additional strength from.

L. M. Creveling and Nathan Dreisbach, of Van Camp, were among town visitors and callers at this office on Monday. These gentlemen were subpœned upon matters pertaining to the audit of the John Rhinard estate.

Mr. Boas, the new Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Bloomsburg, was the recipient of marks of respect in shape of a farewell reception on the part of home friends in Reading, Pa., but more particularly the Berks County Christian Endeavor Union, for whom and with whom he labored before coming here.

A very pretty play, appropriate costuming, good scenery, excellent singing and dancing, and acting of a high order to a small house tells the story of last evening's play. Mr. J. E. Toole is a host in himself, a capital actor, and one whose work is nearer that of J. K. Emmet than any of the imitators of that lamented comedian. Mr. Toole is original and has a bright future before him. The matinee was better attended than the evening performance. Miss Jarboe capitally seconded Mr. Toole's efforts. We trust the company will play a return date, when we can assure them of a house commensurate with the excellence of the company. — Sunday Call, Easton, Pa., March 4, 1893. —Bloomsburg Opera House, Sept. 18.

SCHOOL HOUSE BURNED.

The school house in Fishingcreek township between Jonestown and Bendertown was destroyed by fire on Saturday night. It was a new building and was accepted by the school board from the contractors on that afternoon. School was to have opened on Monday morning. There was no fire of any kind in the building, and it is supposed to have been the act of an incendiary. The loss is about $500, with no insurance.

ALL NEW GOODS AT LOWENBERG'S

That's what's bringing the customers there. This will be the most memorable fall in the history of our business. Never before have we shown such a beautiful line of goods at

SUCH LOW PRICES.

There is no doubt about it. Having to buy an entire new stock at

Depression in Trade Prices

gives us a great advantage over other stores who carried over big stocks from last winter.

The goods and prices will speak for themselves when you see—

Our Elegant Men's Suits at $4, $6, $8, $10, $12, $14, $16, $18.

Our Boy's Long Pants Suits at $3, $5, $8, $10, $12, and $15.

Our Beautiful Children's Suits at 98c. to $5.00 and up.

But other stores have goods at these prices, you say. That may be true; then you must decide where can you get the best value for your money.

Where Do the Good Clothes Come From?

THAT'S THE QUESTION. Don't take the dealer's word for it. Go to the people of this vicinity. Ask them where they can make their dollar give the best return these hard times.

EVENTIDE.

The daylight dies, the evening air
  Is still, and very still;
The mill-stream makes a drowsy hum
  About the gray old mill;
The bleat of sheep sounds full and deep
  From the pastures on the hill.

Now every rude and jarring sound
  That vexed the garish day
Is hushed to rest, the tired winds
  In whispers die away;
Across the darkening fields I hear
  The schoolboys still at play.

Down the still stream the city bells
  Come dropping clear and thin;
On purple-sandaled feet the night,
  The tranquil night, draws in;
The dreaming air is sweet and rare
  With the smell of jessamine.

The gloaming, like a halo grave,
  Rests on the village church;
The fading lights glid tenderly
  The little ivied porch;
Or over the yellow harvest moon
  Hath lit her ruddy torch.

Or, might the peace of the twilight hour
  Drop deep into my breast,
And quiet there each daylight care
  That on my spirit prest,
That my heart might be unfettered, free,
  And like nature's heart—at rest.

—Golden Days.

MISS BELINDA'S BEES.

How They Assisted the Little God of Love.

When the city visitors who swarmed around Maple Center and registered their names by the score in the books of the village hotel strolled out on the Maple road they always stopped at the Bubble farmhouse and cried: "How exquisite! How picturesque!" And, for the life of her, Miss Belinda Bubble did not know why.

"It ain't as if I could afford a coat of paint to the old house," said she. "It's just a slate brown, with winter storms and summer suns; and the grape arbor's all a-tumblin' down for lack of a brace or two of solid timber; and the well sweep ain't half as convenient as Mrs. Claghorn's new chain pump, no way you can fix it; and the stun' wall's all overgrowed with them pesky runnin' vines and briers! To be sure, the four o'clocks and mornin' glories are sort o' pretty by the fence, and there ain't no prettier hollyhocks in the country than them dark-red and cherry-colored ones jest this side of the pear tree. As for the beehives, I always did like beehives, even if it wasn't for the honey. My mother set a heap o' store by them beehives, and there they've stood, nine of 'em in a row, ever since I can remember. And there ain't no honey in all the county as has got the flavor of ourn. I don't know whether it's Squire Carbuncle's buckwheat field or that there clover medder of Mr. Darnell's as does it. But you can fairly taste the sunshine and the flowers in it!"

And it was a genuine sight, at swarming-time, when Miss Belinda issued forth into the black and booming clouds, all gloved and veiled and tied up in a mosquito netting, with a tin pan and skimmer in her hand.

"I ginerally have first rate good luck with the swarms," said Belinda. "I don't know when I've lost one, if only folks would let me alone. But it's the meddlin' people that come to offer their help that upsets me and the bees. 'Squire Carbuncle, now he's real sensible. He don't never come round interferin'. If he sees the bees makin' up their minds to swarm he jest gets up off his garden chair and goes into the house. For bees, they're dreadful sensible. They have their likes and their dislikes, jest as human creeturs have—and they never could get along with 'Squire Carbuncle!"

Squire Carbuncle was a quiet, grizzle-headed man of fifty, who farmed a model farm, with all the new machinery patents liberally oiled with gold, read the agricultural papers, and was always "just going to" write an article for the Gentleman Farmer. Miss Bubble herself was not much younger. She supported herself in a genteel way by vest-making for a factory in the neighborhood.

"I s'pose," said Miss Bubble, "Squire Carbuncle 'll get married some day, and I do hope he'll choose a sociable wife that I can take comfort with, exchanging patterns and chatting of an evening over the garden fence."

"Belinda Bubble is a sensible woman," said Squire Carbuncle, in his deep, sonorous voice. "To my certain knowledge, she has refused one or two shiftless fellows who wanted to marry her merely to be supported. She's a good deal better off single than married."

Miss Belinda never said a word when Squire Carbuncle's superb liver-colored setter killed her favorite Muscovy duck—and the squire, on his part, condoned the offense, when Miss Bubble's chickens scratched up all his early lettuce and made havoc with his seeding pansies and pinks.

"Neighbors orter be neighborly," said Miss Belinda. "And dog's nature is dog's nature!"

"I must stop up the cracks under the fence," said the squire. "Of course, Belinda can't help her chickens getting through! No woman could."

Thus matters were, when Miss Belinda's cousin, Fannie Halkett, came to visit her—a plump, peach-cheeked young woman who was cashier at a glove-store in the city.

"Cousin Bubble," said Fannie, "why don't you marry Squire Carbuncle?"

"La, Fannie!" cried the elderly damsel, starting back so suddenly that she stepped on one of the velvet-white paws of the pet kitten.

"Yes, truly, why don't you?" said Fannie. "He needs a wife and it would be very nice for you to have a husband. Now wouldn't it?"

"Go 'long," said Miss Belinda. "I never thought of such a thing! Nor him neither. Go out, Fannie, and pick a mess o' white Antwerp raspberries for tea and don't let me hear no more such nonsense."

"Nonsense!" echoed Fannie, laughing, as she went off with a blue-edged bowl in her hand. "But I think it isn't nonsense at all!"

And among the Antwerp raspberry-vines she talked the matter over with Julian Hall, Squire Carbuncle's nephew, who had come to the farm for a week's trout fishing, and who had developed a very strong propensity for reading novels under the old pear-tree that overshadowed Miss Bubble's garden fence.

"Wouldn't it be nice?" said Fannie.

"Splendid!" Julian answered, leaning over to put a handful of raspberries into the blue-edged bowl.

Whether he leaned too far and lost his footing or how it happened he did not know; but certain it is that, just at that moment, one of the beehives fell—crash!—over among the raspberry bushes. Fannie fled in wild fright, and Julian himself, recovering his balance as best he might, was driven to ignominious flight.

"Who did that?" said Squire Carbuncle, issuing out of the door.

"I'm afraid I did, sir!" confessed Julian.

"And what am I to say to Miss Belinda Babble?" sternly demanded his uncle.

"I'm sure, sir, I don't know!" answered Julian.

"Such a thing never happened before in all the years that we have lived as neighbor to each other," said Mr. Carbuncle. "Of course, the bees have got away and the glass honey boxes are broken?"

"I am very sorry, sir," said Julian.

The squire, an eminently just man, harnessed up his gray pony and drove to town the next day. That evening he called at the Bubble farmhouse with a square package, neatly done up in brown paper, in his arms. Fannie Halkett came to the door.

"My dear," said Squire Carbuncle, "is your cousin at home?"

"Yes, sir," said Fannie, fluttering all over and showing the way into the best parlor, where the blue paper shades were down and the stuffed owl on the mantel transfixed the chance visitors with its eyes of glittering green glass.

"Tell her I've called on very particular business," said the squire, sonorously.

"Yes, sir!" said Fannie, and away she ran.

"Cousin Belinda, take your hair out of those crimping pins at once," said she, "and let me fasten this blue-ribbon bow at your throat. He's in the parlor. He's come to propose."

"Nonsense, Fannie!"

"But he has! He as good as told me so!" cried Fannie, standing on tiptoe to kiss Miss Belinda's withered apple of a cheek. "Do make haste! Don't keep him waiting. Men don't like to be kept waiting." And she fairly pushed Belinda Bubble into the best room.

"Miss Bubble," said the squire, solemnly, rising to his feet, "I have called to ask if you will accept—"

"Yes, Seth," cried Miss Belinda, flinging herself into his arms. Luckily he had bethought himself to lay the square package down on the table. "Yes, dear Seth, I will. Fannie told me you was going to propose to me, but I didn't believe it. And I'll be as good a wife to you as I know how. And, oh, Seth, I've always loved you since we were young people and went to singing school together!"

The squire opened and shut his mouth as if it were some curious piece of machinery.

"Eh!" said he, staring mechanically at the owl.

"I hope," faltered Miss Bubble, "you don't think I've been too hasty in accepting your offer?"

"No, Belinda, no," said Mr. Carbuncle, swallowing down a lump in his throat. "I am much obliged to you for saying 'yes,' and I am quite convinced, my dear, that you will be a good wife to me."

And so this autumnal couple became engaged; and the squire never told Belinda that it was the colony of Italian bees he had brought her, not himself, to lay as an offering at her shrine.

"But it's just as well," said the squire to himself. "I ought really to be settled in life, and Belinda is a most worthy woman. It is best at times to abandon oneself entirely to circumstances."

"Didn't I tell you so, Cousin Belinda?" said Fannie, exultantly.

One wedding makes many, and neither of the elders was surprised when Julian and Fannie became engaged shortly after.

"The humming of bees will be the sweetest music in all the world to my ears after this," said Julian, fervently.

"I always was partial to bees," reiterated Miss Belinda.—Amy Randolph, in N. Y. Ledger.

A Novel Way to Collect a Bill.

Quite a novel suggestion in the way of bill-collecting was made the other day through the mistake of a man mailing two letters in this city. He had had considerable difficulty in persuading a young woman that his goods had not been sold to her for the mere pleasure of selling, and finally she had dismissed his messenger with the statement that she did not want to hear from him again. Nothing was left for the merchant to do but to resort to the United States mails. He accordingly sat down and wrote to the young woman a letter which was characterized rather by terseness and vigor than by any terms of affection. Fortunately or unfortunately for him, he had a social acquaintance with another young lady in the same house, and while he had his pen he thought he would write to her, too, a personal letter. When he came to direct his envelopes, though, he sent the dunning letter to his personal friend and his personal letter to his debtor. It is needless to say that the mistake was corrected within a few moments after the receipt of the letters, but the debtor's chagrin at the revelation of her position to another was so great that she paid her bill immediately.—Washington News.

Campaign Committee Putting Documents where They Will do the Most Good—Farms Depreciated Under High Protection—New Tariff Adjustment—The Affected Populism of Senator Jones.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, September 10, 1894.

Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia, chairman of the Democratic Congressional campaign committe, who is almost constantly at the committee headquarters, smiles significantly every time his attention is called to a new version of the dissension which the Republican newspaper correspondents profess to have discovered in the committee. He says that those for whose benefit the committee exists have the best of reasons for knowing that there is no dissension, and that it will be beneficial rather than otherwise to the Democratic party if those correspondents can convince the Republican managers that the committee is not in a condition to render effective service to the Democratic candidates. As a matter of fact, all of these dissension fairy tales are based upon a misapprehension of the duties of the committee. With the exception of the campaign Text Book, which is prepared by the committee, and which is not for general distribution, but for speakers and editors, the committee does not decide what sort of documents are to be sent into a Congressional district. It merely sends what is asked for by the candidate or those authorized to speak for him. So it is simply impossible that members of the committee should dispute over what documents shall be sent out. The committee is filling all the orders sent to it, and will continue to do so. Senator Faulkner says the information he is receiving from all over the country is daily adding to his confidence that the Democrats will retain control of the House, and he thinks that the greater the improvement in business, now becoming apparent in all sections, the larger the Democratic majority will be, as the only thing that ever made the issue doubtful was the business depression and the disposition of many voters to hold the party in power responsible for the hard times.

Representative John T. Dunn, of New Jersey, has some very strong ideas on political economy, and they are thoroughly practical, as is the man. Speaking of the effect of the Republican policy upon farmers, he said: "If there is any class of people under the sun who ought to vote the Democratic ticket it is the farmers. Since 1860 farm values have decreased fully 40 per cent in the United States, as shown by the census figures. There isn't a country place in New Jersey today that is worth over $50 per acre for farming purposes. I happen to own the old Doty homestead, on the outskirts of Elizabeth, on which the celebrated Ben Wade was born. It contains eighty-four acres, and in 1860 was held at $25,000. I am now negotiating to sell it for $5,500. Land is the only thing in this country that has not kept pace with the increase of population. Protected industries have absorbed the increase of value that, in the absence of laws favoring a special class, would have gone to land owners. As a legitimate consequence of this beautiful protection doctrine, Egyptian cotton and Indian grain have been brought into competition with the products of our soil, forcing down prices of both to the lowest point ever recorded."

In order that the matter should be dealt with by experts, Secretary Carlisle has designated a number of U. S. Customs Inspectors and officials of the Customs Bureau of the Treasury department, to act as a commission to draw up the regulations necessary for the enforcement of the sugar schedule of the new tariff. This commission will be under the immediate direction of Assistant Secretary Hamlin.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, isn't much of a Populist, notwithstanding his sensational letter announcing his abandonment of the Republican party and his intention to act with the Populists in the future; but he is a firm believer in the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, and a very shrewd politician; hence the publication of that letter. His sole object, in the opinion of your correspondent, was to endeavor to force the silver question to the front in the Congressional campaign, because he thereby hopes to lessen the number of Democrats elected to the next House, owing to the known differences of opinion in the party on the subject. I do not hesitate to predict that upon all political questions Senator Jones will continue to vote with the Republicans, as he has always done. Mark the prediction. In other words, the move is a Republican trick.

Secretary Carlisle wears a broad smile these days, in spite of the hard work he is having to do in connection with the new tariff. Cause why? The cash receipts of the Treasury are now steadily increasing and it is no longer necessary for him to sit up o'nights to study out how to meet the obligations of the government.

RECORD OF CONGRESS

Democratic Representatives to Make a Fight Thereon.

EXPENDITURES ARE REDUCED.

Pledges of the Party Carried Out to the Letter.

Democratic Representatives are prepared to return to their districts and make an aggressive fight on the records of the Congress which has now come to a close. The tariff law will of course be the main issue in the coming campaign, but there are other questions which the Democratic orators will not suffer to pass unnoticed. Congress has done more than enact a tariff law. The Democratic party had pledged itself to do other things, and chief among its promises was one pledging the people that it would reduce governmental expenditures.

In a statement prepared by Congressman Dockery of the appropriations committee it is shown that the public expenditures have been decreased more than $50,000,000, and that the total expenses for the two years will be below $1,000,000,000 instead of above, as was the case in the Reed Congress and the Fifty-second.

In the statement which Representative Dockery has prepared the revenue to be derived under the new tariff bill, including the postal receipts, is estimated at $426,427,748, and the appropriations for the session, $490,668,369. From the appropriations must come a sinking fund deduction of $48,000,000, leaving the liabilities for the current year, $442,668,398, and an estimated surplus at the end of the year of $19,779,349. It must be remembered that of the $490,000,000 which has been appropriated more than $65,000,000 was entailed by the Reed Congress. In the Reed Congress the appropriations were $35,000,000 more than $1,000,000,000, and in the Fifty-second Congress $26,000,000 more than $1,000,000,000. The appropriations by this Congress will be $25,000,000 less than $1,000,000,000. The appropriations this session, $50,000,000 less than the last session of the Reed Congress, $17,000,000 less than the first session of last Congress and $29,000,000 less than than the last session of the last Congress.

Among the measures passed by the House which are now on the Senate calendar are bills for forfeiting 45,000,000 acres of land not earned by railroad corporations, electing Senators by direct vote of the people and the Hatch anti-option bill.

Bills which have passed both Houses are: Repeal of the Federal elections law, repeal of the McKinley law, repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, law authorizing States and Territories to tax greenbacks, law providing pensioners shall not be suspended under twenty days' notice, seven bills reported by the joint Congressional commission reducing the annual expenditures of the government more than $500,000.

Under the new tariff bill just passed 106 items have been taken from the dutiable list and placed on the free list. Among these are lumber, wool, salt, binding twine, grain, bags, copper, plows, reapers and all agricultural implements. In seven classes goods have been reduced from 75 to 100 per cent below the McKinley law. In 112 classes the reductions have been from 50 to 75 per cent below the McKinley law: in 370 classes from 25 to 50 per cent below the McKinley law, and in 238 classes the reductions have been less than 25 per cent below the existing law. Eighty-two classes remain unchanged and fifty-three classes have been increased, among which are many articles of luxury.

Chairman Sayres of the House committee on appropriations has completed an official statement of the amount appropriated by this session of Congress as compared with past sessions. The statement represents the views of the Democratic majority in the committee and in the House on the economy of government expenses. Mr. Sayres' statement reads as follows:

The appropriations made during the extraordinary session and the first regular session of the present Congress, including permanent appropriations, shows a reduction of $28,835,989 under the appropriations made at the last session of the last Congress, and deducting the amount of the river and harbor bill, $11,373,180, which should be done for the purpose of comparison, inasmuch as no river and harbor bill was passed by the last Congress at its last session, the reduction is $40,309,169.

As compared with the laws passed at the last session of the last Congress, the following reductions are shown:

Agricultural bill, $101,476; army bill, $632,755; legislative, etc., bill, which carries, in the main, the great salary list of the government, $557,507; military academy bill, $26,033; pension appropriation bill, $14,949,780; sundry civil bill, $7,506,535; on account of deficiencies, $10,456,440; on account of permanent appropriations, including $11,000,000 for sugar bounty, which is abolished and $450,000 expenses under election laws, that are repealed, $14,393,593; total, $48,624,119.

The bills showing increase over the last laws are as follows: Diplomatic and consular bill, $6,473; District of Columbia bill, $131,369; fortifications bill, $126,949; Indian bill, $1,475,408; naval bill, same, $3,223,065; postoffice bill, $3,232,285; river and harbor bill, total, $11,473,180; miscellaneous, $29,500; total increase, $19,788,229.

The Secretary of the Treasury, in submitting the annual estimates to Congress, in December last, stated he had included therein no amount for the payment of the bounty on sugar, but that if the law authorizing its payment should not be repealed it would be necessary to add to the estimates for 1895, for permanent appropriations, the sum of $11,000,000. But in July last the commissioner of internal revenue estimated the sum required to pay this bounty, if not repealed, would be $15,200,000 for the fiscal year 1895 and $17,500,000 for the fiscal year 1896. The expenditures made for bounty on sugar have been as follows: Fiscal year 1892, $7,550,028; fiscal year 1893, $9,569,532; fiscal year for 1894, $13,073,879.

The postoffice bill makes the usual increase incident to the growth of the country and its commercial interests, the number of postoffices having increased during the period between June 30, 1890, and June 30, 1894, by 7,404; the number of post routes by 4,514; the miles of annual travel in transporting the mails by 74,615,375; the length of post routes by 26,737 miles; the annual revenues from the service by $15,098,155, and the total annual expenditures by $17,925,509.

The sundry civil bill carries $8,400,000 toward payments under contracts for river and harbor works authorized under laws passed during the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses.

For river and harbor work there was appropriated this session, including the amount carried by the river and harbor bill, $11,473,180, and $8,400,000 for contracts in the sundry civil bill, the total sum of $19,873,180.

During the first session of the last Congress there was appropriated by the river and harbor bill $2,095,038 more than was appropriated at this session. At the present session there has been appropriated the sum of $1,300,000 toward meeting the river and harbor contracts authorized by the Fifty-first Congress, and $7,100,000 toward such contracts authorized by the Fifty-second Congress, leaving $5,448,799 of the former and $14,263,368 of the latter, or $19,712,147 in all of river and harbor contracts yet to be appropriated for.

To finally equip and complete and arm the fifty new vessels of the navy, built or authorized, it is estimated there will yet have to be appropriated the further sum of $23,080,974, making a total of $112,062,163 which the new navy as now authorized will cost. A subjoined statement shows that of the appropriations made or required under laws passed during the Fifty-first Congress, that only $34,574,191 were appropriated by the first session of the Fifty-first Congress under those laws: that of the appropriations made during the two sessions of the last Congress $175,736,618 were the result of those laws, and that only $127,309,111 were appropriated at both sessions of the Fifty-first Congress under those laws which it passed entailing such enormous obligations upon its successors.

During the present session of Congress the salaried list of the government has been reduced by more than 600 in number and over $700,000 in annual cost, and more salaries have been reduced than increased. Mr. Sayres attaches elaborate tables to the statement which give in great detail the points he has summarized herein.—Kansas City Times.

Under Political Excitement Figures May Lie.

Let the voter be prepared to have figures (which sometimes are arranged to lie) thrown at him from all directions between this and the day of election. Republican figures will be arranged to prove the great financial blessings resulting from class legislation, high protection, &c., while the Democratic figures will try to prove that equitable taxation and low protection is best for the common good. Revenue and customs receipts will be watched and comparisons made in the hope of gaining votes by both parties, and a flood of figures arranged to lie may be anticipated by the voter.

Freedom of the Press.

It is almost impossible for an American to realize the significance of the absence of the freedom of the press, says the Albany (N. Y.) Press. Here where there is absolute liberty to say whatever one pleases, and the measures of government are daily discussed and approved or condemned in newspapers, it is hard to be understood that men and women will run the risk of losing their liberty and their lives in any attempt to criticise the acts of their provincial governors, let alone the supreme imperial government. Yet such are the conditions regulating the Russian press to-day. The relation of the censorship ended with the assassination of the late emperor. It is easily supposable that the censor exercised his authority afterwards with harsher sway, and the last decade saw some of the best newspapers suppressed and some of the best works of literature interdicted. Now there are some agreeable rumors to the effect that the emperor of Russia has decided to relax the stringency of press censorship and it is sincerely hoped that the measure will be sanctioned by the czar in the interest of humanity and the peace of his kingdom. A similar relaxation of the press laws was made by Russia about '77 or '78, and literature, including journalism and criticism, received a generous impulse and began to attain an exceptional standard of vigor and principle. In a country where the government is so despotic, the administrative system so intricate, the distances so unmeasurable and the means of communication so slender, the only possible check to abuse, corruption and tyranny among the minor officials lies in the freedom of the press. Without freedom of the press, the most atrocious acts of barbarism can be committed by the lowest official without the remotest chance of redress or compensation. Without freedom of the press, as is the condition to day in Russia, public opinion is impossible and justice is a myth. So that it can be seen that there is something to be thankful for in this country, and it is safe to say that were it not for freedom of the press to-day in America, official corruption would have long ago eaten the heart out of the country.

"Yield not to misfortune."

I was afflicted with catarrh last autumn. During the month of October I could neither taste or smell and could hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus Geo. Shautz, Rahway, N. J.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill. Cream Balm is agreeable.

Mrs. Putnam, Forristdale, Mass., says:

An order emanating from the Treasury Department curtailing the sugar bounties took effect on August 27th.

The sovereign power will find itself powerless on the day of election unless it attends in time to the trifling matter of complying with the law regulating the payment of taxes and the assessment and registration of voters.

A very likely man, indeed, for advancement from Congressional to higher honors is the father of the original Wilson tariff bill who is familiarly known at his home in West Virginia as "Billy Wilson."

Among the employees recently discharged from the Government Printing Office it is said that more than 50 per cent of them held place through endorsement of Senator Gorman. This gentleman seems to have injured others as well as himself in his stubborn fight against the administration of President Cleveland.

We mention it, but not as a matter of any great surprise, that Maine and Vermont have gone Republican, while Alabama, Tennessee and Arkansas have gone Democratic. As both parties are disposed to crow over their victories, we suppose it is now the printer's duty to commence building pyramids of successful states and to hunt up the old battered and featherless roosters and endeavor to get them in shape for a loud crow over the highest pyramid.

While McKinley is up in Maine punching holes in the new tariff law with his oratorical fists, as Jim Corbett might say, treasury statistics for the first seven months of this year show an excess of exports over imports of $55,000,000, or a "balance of trade" of that much in our favor. McKinley himself has always held that a "balance of trade" in our favor was a sure sign of prosperity. Will he now proceed to amend his speeches or will he change the signs?—Ex.

All Republican tariff speeches are alike: read one and all will have been read. They are all devoted to a criticism of the new tariff law, and all contain the same points. They say that the new law

Pleases nobody;
Closed mills and factories from the time of its inception;
Destroyed American industries;
Reduced wages;
Benefits only the trusts.

There is the catalogue of evils attributed to this law which is even now reviving industries and cheapening necessaries. The ideas are elaborated in speeches but the orators say no more. It is the full scope of their invention and they do not always appear to be proud of it either. And while they iterate and reiterate the same charges industries continue to resume. —Patriot.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Collins and Meyer Chosen for Congressmen-at-Large.

Because of the death of ex Senator Sloan and the declination of Judge Bucher, both of whom had been nominated for Congress-at-Large, it became necessary to fill these vacancies. Accordingly a nominating convention was held at Harrisburg on the 11th, inst., and Thomas Collins, of Bellefonte, and Henry Meyer, of Pittsburg, were nominated by acclamation.

The Convention was in good humor and worked smoothly with Benjamin F. Meyers, of Harrisburg presiding. Chairman Meyers made a lengthy extemporaneous address in which he touched upon the political issues of the opening campaign with considerable force and logic.

CONGRESSIONAL CONFERENCE.

Mr. Buckalew Nominated.

The Democratic congressional conference of this district re-assembled at Danville on Monday, September 10th, pursuant to adjournment, President G. W. Miles, of Montour presiding. All the conferrees were present, as follows: Columbia county, Rohr McHenry, John G. Freeze; Montour, G. W. Miles, Alex. Billmeyer; Northumberland, Voris Auten, J. H. McDevitt; Sullivan, A. L. Smith, J. W. Flynn.

After the 37th ballot, Mr. McDevitt presented some petitions from citizens of Northumberland county, asking for the nomination of Chas. T. Steck, and on the next three ballots Mr. Steck received the votes of Messrs. McDevitt and Auten. After the 41st ballot the conference adjourned until Tuesday at 9 a. m., at which time it reconvened, and during the day the 60th ballot was reached, Mr. Buckalew receiving votes of Columbia and Sullivan constantly, Steinbach, the Montour vote, and Dewart the Northumberland vote, with occasional variations on the last two. After the 60th ballot they adjourned until 8 o'clock in the evening, at which time the candidates appeared before the conference and severally formally released their conferrees from their instructions. The conference then adjourned until 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. On re-assembling at that hour balloting was resumed, with varying results until the 70th ballot, when Mr. Buckalew received the votes of Columbia, Sullivan, and Montour counties, and was declared by the President to be the nominee, and the conference adjourned, after tendering thanks to the Pattison Club for the use of their rooms.

Key Notes.

Many a political sermon may be preached to good advantage from these forceful and truthful words of President Cleveland:

"The trusts and combinations—the communism of pelf—whose machinations have prevented us from reaching the success we deserved, should not be forgotten or forgiven. We shall recover from our astonishment at their exhibition of power, and if then the question is forced upon us whether they shall submit to the free legislative will of the people's representatives or shall dictate the laws which the people must obey, we will accept and settle that issue as one involving the integrity and safety of American institutions. The new law furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monopoly and governmental favoritism."

The case of ex cashier De La Green of the broker Money bank was tried last week at Williamsport in the United States District courts, before Judge Buffington. He was charged with making false entries in the books.

On July 20, 1891, the books showed overdrafts of $765, when they really were $27,561. On March 4, 1891, he made a false entry showing the loans and discounts to be $157,871, when they really were $117,874. A false entry was made, showing the individual disposits to be $26,661, when they were really $158,000. On December 15, 1891, the overdrafts were reported at $2,100 when they really were $27,811.

He was charged with aiding and abetting John M. Bowman, President, to make false entries in the statement book showing the financial condition of the bank, the books showing $104,000 due depositors, when $125,000 was due, and loans $147,509, when they were only $116,407.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty on the counts for aiding and abetting John M. Bowman in making false entries. The trial of John M. Bowman began on Monday and resulted in his conviction.

While our millionaire George Gould is seeking a little expensive amusement at yacht-racing in English waters, Max LeBaudy, an eccentric millionaire of Paris, recently gave an old fashioned bull fight for the edification of the elite and Parisian sports. About two hundred members of the aristocracy were thus delighted to see several mad bulls killed and three professional bull-fighters seriously hurt. Thus tastes differ among millionaires when in search of a little amusement.

Tariff Reduction All Right.

As to the disastrous effect that tariff reduction was to have upon business, according to Republican assurance, the word now reaching us from east to west and from north to south is just the contrary. We will not say the present demand is a natural or normal one, for we rather think it to be the result and reaction of a premeditated tie-up of business generally—a tie-up for political effect—so far as protected trusts combines and monopolies could tie it up. Their success revealed their strength, and the present business activity is occasioned by the natural law of demand which protected trusts and combines, though rich and powerful, cannot entirely control. In far too large a measure, however, they can and do control the output, and thus they control prices.

The Comte de Paris who died last Saturday in England, was a claimant of the throne of France. During the civil war he came to this country and was a member of General McClellan's staff and a brave soldier. He was a personal acquaintance of the late Captain C. B. Brockway, and the scrap book of the latter contains an autograph letter from the Comte de Paris to him.

Hood's Saved My Life

I Can Honestly Say This

"For years I was in a very serious condition with catarrh of the stomach, bowels and bladder. I suffered intensely from dyspepsia, and in fact was a miserable wreck, merely a skeleton. I seemed to go from bad to worse. I really wished I was dead. I had no rest day or night. I did not know what to do. I had taken so much medicine of the wrong kind that it had poisoned me, and my finger nails began to turn black and come off. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had faith in the medicine, and it did more for me than all prescriptions. I have gradually regained perfect health, am entirely free from catarrh of the bowels, and pain in my back. My recovery is simply marvelous." W. R. YOUNG, Potter's Mills, Pa.

Founded in 1864. Paid up Capital $1,000,000

PENSYL. COL. CO., PA., Aug. 11, 1894.
Wrought Iron Range Co., St. Louis, Mo.
GENTLEMEN:—We have purchased one of your Home Comfort steel ranges of your salesman, Mr. Spotts, and are pleased to give our testimonial for the benefit of your company and its employees. Have used it in baking bread, which it did nicely in forty minutes, with four small sticks of wood. The oven was ready for baking in twenty minutes from the time the match was applied to the wood.
We can heartily recommend it to all those who are in need of a good range as being far superior to any we have ever used.

Wrought Iron Range Co., St. Louis, Mo.
GENTLEMEN:—This is to certify that we purchased a Home Comfort range of your agent and it has indeed proved itself a comfort. We have used it with the utmost satisfaction for all cooking, and for baking qualities thin: it cannot be excelled. We have told our friends that we would not give up this range for one hundred dollars unless we were sure we could purchase another. It affords us great pleasure in recommending it to any family in need of a first-class range.

said he had read a number of good essays on "Milk," but the best thing he had ever seen on it was cream.

Now Then----

That is what we have to say of our new stock of fall and winter dress goods—its the cream assortment of foreign novelties in dress patterns at prices in accord with the times. Of American productions, the cream assortment of novelties in two fold effects, and we certainly feel proud what American manufactories can do. We know you are not ungrateful, and when you see these novelties, you'll say you never saw anything like them for the price. Our shoe department is as complete as any in town, and has the latest things in all classes and prices.

Grocery Department.

We carry the most complete and largest assortment of groceries in town. All grades and all prices. Imported French olives, pitted, stuffed with anchovies in oil, and the regular XXX Queen olives. Have you tried our mushrooms? Hemlock flour, $3.00 per bbl. Have you seen our way to boil eggs? If not, call and we will explain. Beats the old way. Just try it.

THE COLUMBIAN.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1894.

Entered at the Post Office at Bloomsburg, Pa as second class matter, March 1, 1888.

The Woolen mill resumed work on Monday.

A social club has been organized in Danville.

J. E. Toole in "Killarney and The Rhine," at the Opera House Tuesday, Sept. 18.

There is a fair prospect that an electric railroad will be built in Towanda soon.

The Lowenberg store is being handsomely papered and decorated by P. K. Vannatta's hands.

When completed C. A. Kleim's new building will have one of the handsomest fronts on Main street.

In the list of patents recently granted we find one issued to O. B. Hoffman, of Bloomsburg, it being a device for securing doors.

Ex-master workman T. V. Powderly of Scranton, will apply for admission to the bar in that city on the 24th inst.

No Griping, no Nausea, no Pain, when DeWitt's Little Early Risers are taken. Small Pill. Safe Pill. Best Pill. —W. S. Rishton, Druggist. tf.

Among those who are improving about their homes we mention Mrs. D. J. Waller, on Fifth street, and E. B. Tustin, on Market street.

Judge R. W. Archbald has been renominated by the Lackawanna county republicans, and J. A. Scranton for congress.

Two men were killed and nine injured by a collision on the Pennsylvania railroad near Lock Haven, last Saturday morning. A freight train ran into the caboose of a work train.

There were 150 prisoners in the Luzerne County jail Saturday—about 50 more than there is room for. Some of the cells contain two and three prisoners.

The ceiling of S. F. Peacock & Co's store room is of iron, laid out in decorated panels. Eshleman & Wolf have the agency for these ceilings, and are doing the job.

"There is a Salve for every wound." We refer to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve; cures burns, bruises, cuts, indolent sores, as a local application in the nostrils it cures catarrh, and always cures piles.—W. S. Rishton, Druggist. tf.

The organ recital at the Presbyterian church last Friday evening was a rare treat to those who heard it. Miss Beach is a skillful performer and she brought out all the fine qualities of the splendid instrument.

Mr. Geo. Abbott, father of Mrs. Dr. J. B. McKelvy, was ninety three years old on the 7th inst. He has been totally blind for many years, but otherwise is in good health, active and hearty.

The Great Military Play, "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," will be repeated again the first week in October, by the same party. Every one should manage to see it as this will be a great treat from home talent.

The National Farmer's Congress will convene at Parkersburg, West Va., and remain in session from October 3d to 6th. The Governor has appointed Ellis Eves, of Millville, an honorary delegate from Pennsylvania.

J. R. Townsend is the leading Merchant Tailor of Columbia county. See his advertisement on fourth page. tf.

A good cow for sale. Will be fresh about the 15th of October. Address or apply to—A. M. DeWitt, Orangeville, Pa. 2t.

The Prohibition candidate for Governor, Charles L. Hawley, of Scranton, will address the people in front of the Court House, Saturday evening. Everybody invited to hear him.

A satisfied customer is a permanent one. That's why we recommend DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure Constipation, Indigestion and Biliousness.—W. S. Rishton, Druggist. tf.

The season opens at the Opera House, Friday Sept. 14th, with the Watson Sisters Co. The Troupe was here two years ago. All who saw them then were well pleased. Those who miss seeing them now will make a mistake.

Mrs. Tillie McHenry, of Jonestown, died on Sunday morning, after a few days illness, leaving her husband and two children to mourn her loss. She was a sister of Camden Mears of this town. The funeral took place at Jonestown on Tuesday morning.

For instance, Mrs. Chas. Rogers, of Bay City, Mich., accidentally spilled scalding water over her little boy. She promptly applied DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, giving instant relief. Its a wonderful good salve for burns, bruises, sores, and a sure cure for Piles.—W. S. Rishton, Druggist. tf.

Just add another to the long list of crooked bank cashiers. Dela Green is his name, and Muncy, Pa., was his location until the strong arm of the law embraced him. He now awaits sentence which will soon determine where he can be found in the future for sometime to come.

Mr. John H. Brugler of Danville has made the plans for a change in the outside appearance of the beautiful residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson in Berwick. New and wide verandas will be erected in front and on the sides of the building and many other modern improvements will be made.

The marriage of Mr. Frank L. Patterson, son of Rev. I. M. Patterson, to Miss Grace E., daughter of Mr. B. F. Kelley of Brooklyn, N. Y., will take place on Tuesday evening, September 25, at Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn. A reception will be held at the bride's home, at 8.30.

During the vacation Miss Amelia Armstrong has enlarged her school room by removing a partition and throwing two rooms into one. The fall term opens next Monday, and a number of pupils have already been enrolled. Miss Armstrong has had many years experience, and is an excellent teacher.

The Northumberland Baptist Association will hold its annual meeting in the Baptist Church in Bloomsburg on September 26th, and 27th. The opening sermon, on Wednesday morning, will be preached by Rev. W. H. Ellis, of Jersey Shore. There will be a Woman's Missionary Meeting on Tuesday afternoon and evening preceding.

The filling at the other end of the bridge is nearly completed, and contractor Mellick expects to finish his job this week. The road has been built across the Pennsylvania tracks at grade. The suit instituted against the Pennsylvania Co. and its employees, to restrain them from interference with the laying out of the road, has been argued before Judge Metzger of Williamsport, and is awaiting his decision.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

COLUMBIA COUNTY FAIR.

The fortieth annual exhibition of the Columbia County Agricultural Society will be held on their grounds in Bloomsburg, Pa., from October 9 to 13 inclusive. In order to keep pace with the growth of the fair a number of additional horse stables are being erected; a fine building for the display of fancy and high bred poultry is being put up and a large building, 60 feet long, for buggies and carriages, is also being erected. The premium lists and purses have been revised and many of them increased. The indications point to a most successful exhibition.

Bicycle races each day will add interest to the other attractions. Excursion rates and special trains will be afforded on all the railroads entering Bloomsburg.

AN INVITATION.

Rev. P. A. Heilman has planned a series of short Sunday Evening Sermons for the next two months on the following Popular Subjects in which everybody is interested:

Sept. 9.—"Christianity and Society."
" 16.—"Bugle-call Meeting."—C. E.
" 23.—"How to spend our Evennings."
" 30.—"Innocent Amusements."
Oct. 7.—"The good and bad Novel."
" 14.—"Recreation, Sinful and Otherwise."
" 21.—"May Christians Dance?"
" 28.—"The Christian at the Theatre."

You are most cordially invited to hear them and to attend all the services of this church. Gentlemanly ushers will gladly show you to a seat. If you are not a Christian—"Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

The above printed on a neat card was circulated by the Christian Endeavor of the Lutheran Church last week. A large audience was present to hear the first of the series. Rev. Heilman spoke of the obligation of the church to provide recreation and diversion for her people and the church. It could be open seven days in the week instead of one and provided with library, papers, &c. Next Sunday evening the C. E.'s will hold a "Bugle Call" Meeting, something new, at which time the delegates to the great Cleveland Convention will report some of the good things said and done there. The songs will be sung that enlivened that Convention and other choice singing beside. It will be a great evening and everybody will be welcome.

Southwestern Bloomsburg Improvements.

On the corner of West and Fifth streets (a comparatively new part of the town) may now be seen the neat little dwelling place of Mr. Caswell the affable proprietor of the Bloomsburg Woolen Mill. After first determining the proper grade, Mr. Caswell raised his house to the proper level and then filled up and sodded and paved and beautified until his place looks quite much improved and home like. His improvements are remarked by passers by, they having enhanced not only the value of his own property but all the other property in that vicinity. Other nice buildings are now being erected in this immediate vicinity and because of its close proxinuty to the Silk Mill and Woolen Mill no doubt this section will soon build up.

A Disgusted Editor Quits.

A retired newspaper man gives this philosophical reason for quitting the business: "A child is born, the doctor in attendance gets $10, the editor notes it and gets 0; it is christened, the minister gets $4, the editor writes it up and gets 00; it marries, the minister gets another fee, the editor gets a piece of cake or 000; in a course of time it dies, the doctor gets from $5 to $10, the minister gets another $4, the undertaker $25 to $40—the editor prints it and receives 0000—and then the privilege of running free of charge a card of thanks."

VIGILANT HAS FINISHED.

The Career of the American Yacht in English Waters is Over.

COWES, Sept. 4.—It has finally been decided that there will be no race this year for the Cape May Challenge Cup held by the Britannia on account of the loss of the Vigilant's centerboard while on her way here yesterday. The Sailing Committee of the Royal Yacht Squadron late this afternoon sent a letter to Mr. Howard Gould, who was on board the Vigilant here, saying that under the circumstances the Prince of wales will consider the challenge for the cup withdrawn. Both the Messrs. Gould, Captain Hank Haff and the crew of the Vigilant generally are greatly depressed at this last accident to the American yacht.

Howard Gould, discussing the matter said: "It is most unfortunate that we should be compelled to end the season's racing in this manner. The only explanation I can give for the loss of the centerboard is that the casting made at Southampton was defective.

"The accident occured yesterday, just as we were inside the Needles. We were sailing in five fathoms of water. A friend and I were sitting at lunch when suddenly the machinery of the centerboard began revolving backwards. The cogs failed to hold the wheels and they flew around at a great pace. It was then evident that the board has dropped and was hanging by its chain. The board gave the Vigilant several very hard bumps as we dragged it along for some distance and then suddenly it broke entirely off.

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement that I had a very narrow escape from injury by the crank or any other part of the centerboard machinery flying off. Not only was I not in danger, but nobody else had a narrow escape from being injured. Of course, if any one had placed themselves in the way when the handle was flying around it would have made very short work of them.

HAPPENED IN CALM WATER.

"As to the cause of the accident, I do not believe that we struck a rock or anything else and the pilot was in no way to blame. The chart plainly showed that we were in five fathoms of water, and it is a mystery to me that the accident did not occur while we were in open sea. Coming from Dartmouth the sea was very rough and there must have been a great strain upon the board. But, when the accident occurred we were in comparative calm water and it was calmer still when we lost the board entirely. After our arrival here we made up our minds to race, centerboard or no centerboard, so long as we were allowing the ship extra ballast enough to make up for the loss of the centerboard. We had shipped an extra crew and were going to do our best to recapture the Cape May cup. We informed the Prince of Wales of our purpose, but an hour ago I received this note from committee, informing us that under the circumstances the Prince of Wales would consider the challenge withdrawn.

"Of course, if we had insisted Britannia would have raced; but I felt that we had no right to jeopardize the cup in this way. We could hardly have hoped to do ourselves justice without any centerboard, and had the Britannia won, as she probably would, America's chances of seeing the cup again would have been small, as Britannia would only have to win once more in order to become its possessor."

Throughout the interview Mr. Howard Gould showed how greatly disappointed he was at the accident to the Vigilant; but he talked in a manly, sportsmanlike manner of the yacht's ill-fortune, adding: "There seems to be a fatality about our centerboard over here and I don't wonder that the English don't like them; I don't like them myself now. Why, one of the things we hoped to prove to them was the desirability of using centerboards. But I guess that the lesson must now be taken the other way. Centerboards are certainly the last things one wants on most of these courses. The pilots here can never realize how much we draw with them and there is constant danger from that source.

VIGILANT'S SEASON OVER.

"Vigilant will be laid up immediately and her crew will be shipped home so soon as she is dismantled, and this will probably be within a week. We shall never race the Vigilant again. I must admit that she is not suited for English waters. We shall not attempt to recover the centerboard."

Captain Hank Haff told the same story. The accident, he said, was a piece of very hard luck. "Hard luck," Captain Haff repeated, "Hard luck," I very much hoped that we should at least have finished in good style and have won a victory over the keel-boat and taken that cup home. The Vigilant was never in better trim, in my opinion, before she lost her centerboard."

It is pleasant to record the feeling and comment at the Royal Yacht Squadron Castle as being totally different from that expressed upon the occasion of the former accident to the American yacht. The utmost sympathy is now expressed for the Messrs. Could and for the splendid racing yacht which they own.

Mr. W. Jameson and Colonel Sterling, representing the Prince of Wales, visited the Vigilant this afternoon and were shown just what had happened. They saw how the cogs of the centerboard wheel were chipped off and how the handle was bent, etc. They so reported to the Sailing Committee of the Royal Yacht Squadron and the latter then wrote to the Messrs. Gould the letter which has already been referred to in this despatch. So soon as the letter was received Mr. George J. Gould wrote a formal letter withdrawing his challenge.

At the Royal Yacht Squadron Castle to-night nothing but hearty sympathy and good will for the Goulds and for the Vigilant is expressed and on all sides were heard expressions of regret at the accident and hopes that the year 1895 will see another American yacht over here for the cup and an English yacht on the other side of the Atlantic as a competitor for the America's cup.

Some fishermen who were out in their boats near the Needles insist that the Vigilant grounded just previous to the loss of her centerboard.

Let it run, and your cough may end in something serious. It's pretty sure to, if your blood is poor. That is just the time and condition that invites Consumption. The seeds are sown and it has fastened its hold upon you before you know that it is near.

It won't do to trifle and delay, when the remedy is at hand. Every disorder that can be reached through the blood yields to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For Severe Coughs, Bronchial, Throat and Lung Diseases, Asthma, Scrofula in every form, and even the Scrofulous affection of the lungs that's called Consumption, in all its earlier stages, it is a positive and complete cure.

It is the only blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder so effective that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

Perfection is attained in Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cures the worst cases. Only 50 cents; by druggists.

North Carolina.

Mr. P. T. Wolf, now a resident of Chatham county, North Carolina, writes of that section as follows:

Chatham County lies contiguous to the Long-leaf Pine Belt and includes a small strip of it along the southern edge, but the greater portion of it lies in the Piedmont section, or Oak Uplands. It is drained by the Cape Fear River and is one of the largest counties in the State, containing 800 square miles. The uplands are susceptible of a high state of cultivation, while the valleys along the streams are very rich. The greater part of the soil is red clay of a sandy texture on the surface with a clay sub soil which is known as the most valuable farming land in the Piedmont section. Wheat, corn, oats, rye and all kinds of grain and vegetables grow to perfection on these lands. More cattle and sheep are found in Chatham than in any other county in the State. This fact proves that it is well adapted to stock-raising. Nowhere can clover and all kinds of grass be cultivated better than in Chatham. The county still has 302,306 acres of unimproved lands mostly in original forests of oak, hickory, poplar, red cedar, pine, cherry and black walnut, thus giving it unsurpassed facilities for manufacturing. Two large rivers cross its territory with a fall of from 300 to 400 feet, developing a force of more than 40,000 horse power. The county has three railroads

We have 135 public schools and about 100 churches of all denominations. The people are educated, refined and hospitable. Politics and religion are never questioned.

Pittsboro, the county site of Chatham, lies 34 miles south west of Raleigh, the State Capital. Previous to the late war it was a noted summer resort for people living in the coast counties. For pure air and water it can not be excelled, and is entirely free from all pulmonary diseases. Invalids coming in soon experience relief from all throat and lung diseases.

I came from Preston County, West Virginia, four years ago to North Carolina, and after looking over the State for some time settled at Pittsboro, so I can vouch for the truth of the above statements. I have experimented with nearly all kinds of grain, vegetables, fruits, and grasses, and find that all can be raised here to perfection and profit. Our winters are short and mild, our summers long and pleasant. A man can make a living here very easy, for he has such a long time to work. We plant corn from March until July, sow wheat in September and continue until January, and oats from August until November. We gather vegetables from the garden all the year and fruit from the trees and vines nine months out of the twelve. Strawberries ripen in April, peaches in June and apples in May. Figs begin to ripen in May and continue every day until November. The fig does well here and is one of the finest fruits in the world.

All things considered North Carolina is the best State in the Union, and Chatham County is the garden spot of the world.

All the talk in the world will not convince you so quickly as one trial of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for Scalds, Burns, Bruises, Skin Affections and Piles.—W. S. Rishton, Druggist. tf.

TOWN TOPICS,

The Journal of Society,

(32 PAGES.) NEW YORK. (THURSDAY.)

Is universally recognized as the most complete weekly journal in the world.

Its "Saunterings" columns are inimitable. Its society news, especially of the doings of the 400 of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and all over the world, is not equalled by any newspaper. Its Financial Department is authority with all bankers and brokers. Its "Literary Show"—notes on current literature—is by the cleverest of reviewers. Its "Afield and Afloat" makes it the most interesting paper for all lovers of sport—yachting, football, rowing, shooting, fishing, etc. Its "On the Turf" excels all other racing notes. Its burlesques, poems and jokes are the cleverest. Its stories are by the best writers—among them Amélie Rives, F. Marion Crawford, Julian Hawthorne, Edgar Fawcett, Gilbert Parker, Mary J. Hawker ("Lance Falconer"), Barry Pain, Paul Bourget, Rudyard Kipling, Ambrose Bierce, etc., etc., and are, even if a trifle risqué, yet always clever, bright and pretty, without coarseness or anything to offend the most refined and moral woman. In addition to all this there is each week a supplement, portrait, in colors, of some man eminent in his walk of life.

Tales From Town Topics

Quarterly, first day of March, June, September, December; 256 pages; 12mo. Contains in each number, in addition to short stories, poems, burlesques, etc., from the old issues of TOWN TOPICS, a complete, original prize story of 120 to 150 pages.

No one who enjoys the highest class of fiction, and would be au courant with all that pertains to good society, can afford to be without TOWN TOPICS every week. There is so much interesting reading in it and in the "Tales," that a club subscription to both will supply any family with abundant reading of the most entertaining character all the year.

RATES:

TOWN TOPICS per annum, $4.00. A trial subscription for three months, $1.00, and a specimen copy of "Tales" Free.

TALES FROM TOWN TOPICS, per number, 50 cents. Per annum, $2.00.

DEVELOPING THE HEIFERS.

They Should be Kept Growing Without Interruption for the Best Results.

It was once a very prevalent idea (and is still in some quarters, unfortunately), that any kind of rough fodder is good enough for young stock, whether steers or heifers. Swale hay and dry cornstalks have made many a poor milker that with proper feeding might have been a credit to the herd. Stunted growth and poor development can be seen in all kinds of stock, because of insufficient food; but in no case do these have so depressing an effect, perhaps, as with the females that are to supply the dairy. The calf that, with proper feeding during the period of growth and after coming to the milking period, might have become a 300-pound butter cow, will hardly exceed 100 or 125 pounds of butter per year under the neglectful, haphazzard plan of feeding, which is also quite likely to precede an insufficient milk ration when the calf has become a cow. To obtain a cow of the highest capacity for production, it is not too soon to begin nearly a year before she is born. That is, have due regard to the butter qualities of the sire and dam from which she is to be raised. It is as foolish to expect butter cows from poor stock as to look for figs from thistles. It is not so important that the dam should have the highest milking qualities, though this will undoubtedly give the most satisfactory results, as a rule; but it is essential that the sire be pure-bred of a butter family and from a high productiveness. A scrub bull may have no dairy qualities in his blood. It is simply a lottery, with the chances against one, to patronize such a sire.

From the day of the calf's birth it should have the full measure of such food, as much as it needs for growth, and as much as it can digest—but in no case more. It should be kept growing without interruption. The sooner it is developed the less will be the expense, both of care and feed; for it is certainly more expensive to spend three years in attaining a size that could have been reached in two. There is better development also in the latter case.

When practicable, it has been found well to feed skim-milk from calfhood till the heifer comes into milk herself. It is fed warm during the first month. Ground oats and fine bran will also be valuable assistants in growing bone and tissue. These are especially important in the winter as an addition to the hay ration, which should be clover hay if obtainable. If silage can be added, or an occasional feed of finely-pulped roots, so much the better. Such foods, with warm quarters, a dry bed, and plenty of good water, in winter, bring a heifer to her full capacity as a producer of butter. When she begins to give milk, it should be kept in mind that, for largest yield, she must have as much of a well-balanced ration as she can digest. The measure of profitably feeding a well-bred butter cow ceases only when the well-balanced ration is fed in excess of her ability to turn it into dairy products.—Webb Donnell in American Agriculturist.

Preserving Wheel Rims.

Herewith is a sketch and description of the device illustrated for oiling the felloes of a wagon wheel to prevent shrinkage. It is simply a narrow castiron trough with a concave bottom, of any desired curve, width, or length, supported on legs near each end. The trough is partly filled with oil, a small fire kindled under it, with due precautions to prevent igniting the oil. When the oil is sufficiently heated the rim of the wheel is immersed and slowly turned around as the heated oil penetrates the wood until the entire rim is treated. The advantages claimed for this device over a rectangular trough of galvanized iron are, it requires less oil, as it conforms more nearly to the curve of the wheel; being of castiron, it serves as a vessel in which to heat the oil, as well as to soak the felloes; it is more durable than galvanized iron, and no more costly. It is not patented.

Indelible Ink.

An indelible stencil ink, if for general marking, is not difficult to make if we do not insist too strictly upon our definition of "indelible." If it means that the marking must resist rain and the ordinary wear and tear to which it may be exposed upon a box, then the result is easily obtained by adding a little linseed oil to the mixture of turpentine and lampblack which is commonly used for the purpose. If the ink must be still more durable the proportion of oil must be increased, and some "dryer" added. This is practically a black paint, such as would be used for outdoor work, but with a rather large proportion of dryer. The latter is necessary in order to make the ink dry as quickly as possible. Unfortunately the faster it dies the less durable it is. Black asphaltum varnish, thickened with a little powdered color till it has the right body could be used for some purposes to good advantage.

Protecting Banks of Streams.

Many farms are damaged by streams that flow through them. In most cases this may be obviated by the use of the so-called mattresses. Place straw alone, or brush and straw with some willow brush or twigs; begin at the upper end and work downward, placing butts down streams, mixing in some straw, and weighting with stone. Where there are no stone strong stakes and gravel will hold until the willow roots are grown. They will retain the alluvium and protect the bank. This work is first done in the spring, and repairs, if necessary, in autumn. The planting of water willows will also protect land from streams. The willows should be kept cut off, and forced to throw out roots as much as possible.

NOTICE.

To James Boone and allwhom it may concern.

Take notice that a petition has been presented to the Court of Common Pleas of Columbia County, setting forth the execution by Joshua Hause, of a mortgage on a tract of land in the Township of Bloom, County of Columbia, Penna., bounded by the Susquehanna river, by lands late of Benjamin Boone; lands of Samuel Boone, and lands of Thomas Malone, containing 106 acres, and allowances; payable to James Boone; to secure payment of $2000—in six successive annual payments of $500—each, beginning A. D., 1834. Said mortgage being recorded in the office for recording deeds, &c., at Bloomsburg, in Mortgage Book No. 2, page 81, &c., and that by reason of lapse of time the legal presumption of its payment exists, and no satisfaction appears on the record thereof; and praying the Court to decree satisfaction of said mortgage to be entered of record, in the event of non-appearance of any person to answer the said petition at the next term of said Court, to-wit: The first return day of September Term, 1894.

They're the cheapest pill for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money is returned.

COUNCIL MEETING.

On last Thursday evening the Council met in regular session and transacted business as follows:

Minutes read and approved.

Permission asked to widen and straighten alley running along property of E. B. Tustin on Market street. Ordered, that the matter be referred to Street Committee, which was empowered to act in conjunction with town engineer.

Moved by Mr. Wilson that Tax Collector M. C. Woodward be notified to meet Council at a special meeting and report as to collections for last year. So ordered.

A formulated ordinance regulating the contemplated electric railway was read, and additional streets over which the road might pass were mentioned by Messrs. J. L. Dillon, A. Z. Schoch, C. W. Miller, L. E. Waller, and others.

There was objection interposed to the paying of license for the cars from the beginning. An exemption for 10 years was asked, along with certain modifications as regards the removal of snow.

Ordered by action of Council, that the cars be exempt from taxation for a period of five years. Council also favored the project by granting the right of way as sought, except as to crossing over bridges owned by the town.

The time limit for the completion of the project is one year from passage of ordinance, and work on the road to commence within three months.

Adjourned to meet and further arrange the matter on Monday evening, the 10th instant.

On Monday evening Council held an adjourned meeting to further consider the question of the contemplated electric railway and to pass upon such other business as might properly come before it.

Present, Drinker, Yost, Sterling, Knorr and Creasy.

The formulated ordinance granting right of way to Bloomsburg Street Railway Company being read was held subject to amendment.

Mr. J. L. Dillon objected to clause exempting the company from taxation for five years from passage of act. He preferred that it should read "five years from the operation of said road."

C. W. Miller also interposed objections to the following restrictions:

"That the privileges and franchises herein granted shall not extend to any bridges owned or partly owned by the town of Bloomsburg."

These propositions calling forth rather lengthy discussion as to rights and privileges that ought to be granted. The matter was laid over for further consideration hereafter.

As per previous order tax collector Woodward appeared before Council and presented a list of taxables for exoneration Council instructed to examine and pass upon them.

The confirmation of the election of Tax Collector J. K. Bittenbender was favorably passed upon by council.

The following bills being presented were ordered paid:

Effects of the Drought.

Not only are the crops and fruit drying up in this section of the State, but the water supply is becoming so low as to be alarming in some parts of this county. Wells and springs that have never gone dry in the past fifty years and more are now useless, and the creeks are drying up killing the fish and all living matter contained in the streams. The river at this point is hardly ever lower than it is at present and if the town did not have Montgomery to draw from the water supply of the town would be a serious question.

The buckwheat crop is fast becoming dried up by the hot blasts and lack of rain, and a farmer informs us that the blossoms have dried up. The apple crop has long since been recognized as a failure and cider will be a scarcity this Fall.

Over along the Sinnemahoning, in Elk county, the creeks have all dried up and fish and eels by the barrel could be scooped from the beds. The water is so low that the fish die and the entire stream will be divested of them if rain does not come soon.

The moon is now perpendicular and according to an old sign the water has all run out and there will be no rain during September. But the moon may be fooled. We hope so.—Clearfield Republican.

Who Was He?

A Bloomsburg fisherman tried for years to catch a particular black bass and on Saturday succeeded in landing the monster. When landed, it was found that it was too full of fish hooks to be eaten and had to be sold for scrap iron.—Shickshinny Democrat.

UNMATCHABLE PRICES.

Every pair of russett shoes, every pair of men's, women's, boy's and children's slippers and oxford ties, at prices that certainly will prove to be great bargains to buyers. We close our eyes to cost and former price—determined to sell.

For instance, in ladies' fine shoes, genuine dongola—solid in every part, 98c. the pair; not one-half their actual value. Ladies' bright dongola opera slippers, solid, 50c. the pair; regular value 85c. Misses' bright dongola and pebble goat button boots, 75c. the pair, sizes eleven to two, common sense and operas. We guarantee these to be as good quality as any $1.50 shoe you can buy. Men's russett shoes, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00, $2.25, $2.50. All at sweeping reductions. Ladies' fine button boots, common sense and opera toes, pattened tips or plain toes reduced to $2.00 the pair. These are first-class goods and regularly sell at $3.00 and $3.50 the pair. All sizes and widths now in stock.

Ladies' fine shoes, hand welts and turns, common sense, square and opera tip and plain toes; all regular $4.00 and $4.50 goods, reduced to $3.00 the pair. These are elegant goods, up to date in every respect. No better goods can be found.

A lot of women's good everyday shoes, 50c. the pair. Lace, regular price, $1.20. One lot children's fancy colored shoes, 50c. the pair; regular price, $1.25, and other goods at the same sweeping reductions.

Avail yourself of the rare opportunity and save some money on shoes. To continue through August.
